VCU Title IX Office

The Title IX Office in Equity and Access Services is a private resource for reporting incidents of sexual harassment at VCU. Title IX can offer supportive measures and may investigate allegations of prohibited conduct under the university's Title IX Sexual Harassment Policy or Sex-Based Misconduct Policy. Equity and Access Services is located at 912 W. Grace St., 2nd Floor.

Contact the Title IX Coordinator Malorie J. Yeaman for more information about your reporting options. yeamanm@vcu.edu | 804-828-1347 | Online Reporting Form

Confidential Resources at VCU

The following resources are confidential; they are not required to report or disclose your information, except as required by law to protect you or others.

- Advocacy Services: myoptions@vcu.edu | 804-828-6200 | Location: Student Commons
Confidential advocates provide non-therapeutic support to help students determine their needs in regards to health (physical, mental, and emotional), reporting options, and academic concerns after experiencing sexual assault, dating violence, and/or stalking. They provide information on personal safety, boundaries, relationships, campus & community resources, and can accompany students to incident-related appointments with police, Title IX, and more.
- University Counseling Services: counseling@vcu.edu | 804-828-6200 | Location: Student Commons
UCS aims to provide comprehensive evaluation and consultation for students on the best options for their mental health care. UCS is a short-term, focused treatment agency. All enrolled students have the opportunity to meet with a clinician to assess the specific needs of the student and how to best meet those needs.
- Student Health Services: health.students.vcu.edu | 804-828-8828 | Locations: MPC & MCV
University Student Health Services is a nationally accredited health care provider that offers primary care services to VCU students. Two clinics are located on the Monroe Park and MCV campuses. Appointments are required and must be scheduled by phone.

If you may want to pursue a criminal investigation, preserving evidence with a hospital forensic exam is important. VCU Health or St. Mary's Hospital can assist with this process.

VCU's Supportive Measures and Reporting Process

You can access these resources and other Title IX supportive measures regardless of your interest in filing a formal complaint or pursuing an investigation.

VCU's reporting and investigations process is complainant-led, which means you have the right to choose:

- Who you speak to,
- Which resources you wish to use,

- What information you wish to share, and when.

Your information will be kept private and only shared if needed to ensure your well-being and the safety of the community.

Mandated Reporting for VCU Faculty & Staff

All employees in non-confidential roles at VCU are mandated reporters. Any mandated reporter with knowledge of an alleged incident of sexual harassment must report the incident to Title IX.

I'm a mandated reporter: what do I say if someone discloses an incident to me?

- “Thank you for sharing this with me. If you are feeling unsafe, we can talk with VCU Police about your immediate options. I am required to notify the Title IX office about the incident you shared with me, to keep our community safe. They may reach out to offer you more supportive measures and resources.”

For confidential support, please utilize one of the VCU resources listed above, or any of the community resources listed and marked below as Confidential

VCU supports an environment free from retaliation. Retaliation against any individual who brings forth a good faith concern, asks a clarifying question, or participates in an investigation is prohibited. Actions are considered retaliatory if they have a materially adverse effect on one's working, academic, or VCU-controlled living environment, or if they hinder or prevent the individual from effectively accessing a VCU program or activity.
